

MaXi-Race Sicily / Etna Trail - An explosive edition !!

Nearly 400 runners from 28 different nationalities came together on the slopes of the very active Mount Etna, which did not fail to invite itself to the party with several explosions that came to liven up the weekend with even pours lava on the flanks (fortunately) opposite of the volcano.

Whether "schuss" slips into the pozzolan or slalomant between a surprising vegetation that takes root in the lava, the participants were able to taste a very unusual and ever-changing environment.

From the race side, we found very cosmopolitan winners on the 2 main distances:

94km: Romanian Bartha Balint (13h27) and Polish Edyta Lewandowska (14h22) are the MaXi winners and establish a new reference time

52km: Frenchman Nicolas Duhail also wins in record time of 5:39 and Russian Aigul Ganieva in 8:50.

Shorter distances (24km, 12km and 3km for children) were also proposed so that everyone can walk this impressive mountain.

A huge potential for this exceptional destination between sea and mountain, very affordable financially with many opportunities to discover with family ...
